

BOYS OF 319TH INFANTRY AND OTHERS ARRIVE IN PORT

HUNDREDS OF FAYETTE COUNTY SOLDIERS REACH NEW YORK ON STEAMSHIP GRAF WALDERSEE

Transport Carries Also Casuals and Hospital Detachments.

TO GO TO SEVERAL CAMPS

Included Are Dix and Lee; Members of 320th Infantry, Suffering in Winter Uniforms at Camp Dix, Protest Against Parading in Pittsburg.

NEW YORK, June 2.—More than 6,000 soldiers arrived here today on the transport Graf Waldersee and Canada. The former German ship brought the 319th Infantry, complete, 80th Division, a total of 99 officers and 3,154 men.

On board the Canada were 1,792 officers and men, composed mainly of casual companies, hospital details, welfare workers. The troops on the two transports are under orders for Camp Devens, Dix, Lee, Jackson, Gordon, Sherman, Taylor, Custer, Grant, Shelby, Dodds, Funston, Travis and Bowen.

In the 319th Infantry are hundreds of National Army men from Fayette county, including a large number from Connellsville. Among the Connellsville boys are:

Sergeant Major Thomas J. Courtney, Headquarters company; Privates Milton R. Bailey and Arley D. Bibby, Supply company; Sergeant George M. Swartzwelder, Medical Detachment. Sergeant Lawrence S. May, Corporal Harry R. Geiger, Corporal Kenneth G. Miller, and Private Thomas E. Williams, Company B. Corporal Frank Spittler, Privates William N. Rhoads and Francesco S. Gro, Company C. Musician Octavio Massioni and Private Noah A. Miller, Company F. Sergeant Albert J. Rother, Headquarters company; Private Ralph F. Sliger, Company H. Sergeant Randall E. Slughenwhite, Sergeant S. L. M. Richey, Sergeant Charles A. McKevitt, Sergeant Patrick J. Cunningham, Corporal Estlin L. Rush, Corporal Harry C. Mason and Private William L. Harper, Company I.

Sergeant John W. Trump and Private H. A. Thorne, Company K. Sergeant Robert C. Dunn, Company L, wounded in action, returned home several weeks ago.

In addition there are many young men from points in Draft Districts No. 2 and 5, whose names are not now available, who are members of this regiment.

The transport Troy, the arrival of which has not yet been reported, is understood to be carrying the 305th Engineers of the 80th Division. This unit has in its membership a number of coke region men, among whom are the following from Connellsville:

Private William R. McCormick, Company D; Private Terrence V. Murphy, Company A and Private William J. Ryan, Company E.

Among the members of the 305th Sanitary Train of the 80th Division, which arrived at Hoboken, Saturday, was Sergeant William W. Edie, brother of Lieutenant Colonel Elliot H. Edie, division surgeon.

Among the hospital units aboard the Canada is the Allegheny hospital, organization in which are William P. Sherman of Connellsville and some Mount Pleasant men.

Members of the 320th Infantry, 80th Division, are at Camp Dix, N. J., awaiting their discharge. The sentiment against parading in Pittsburg seems to be growing among the men, especially as they are still wearing the heavy clothing issued to them last winter, and hounded shoes. It is not likely the men will get a new issue since they are so near the point of demobilization.

Among the 320th Infantry at Camp Dix are the following Western Pennsylvania boys from this city and vicinity:

Headquarters company—David Grech, Ohio; E. A. Mitchell, Mount Pleasant; R. J. Louth, Somerset; I. Bush, Connellsville.

TEMPERATURE SOARS TO 98 IN SHADE, A RECORD OF YEARS

Promised Relief Fails to Appear; Showers Again Forecast For Today.

The highest temperature record reached so early in the summer for many years was marked yesterday by the official thermometer at the West Penn building when 98 was registered. This figure compared with 96 for Saturday which was also a record for hot weather.

On Friday the mercury registered at 94 degrees which was the high mark for May but Saturday, May 31, went this two degrees better, the maximum being 96 degrees. On both Saturday and Sunday nights the minimum temperature was 79 degrees.

The weather is the hottest that has been experienced so early in the summer for a long time. Many went to the beach at South Connellsville yesterday afternoon seeking relief and others hiked into the woods.

In spite of the scorching sun there were a number of persons on the streets, and a good crowd gathered to see the concert given by the carnival band from the veranda of the Elks home in East Crawford avenue.

No cases of death from the heat or prostrations were reported. Many persons found it to be much cooler remaining at home out of the sun as the least exertion caused heavy perspiration.

The weather forecast today predicts the possibility of showers late tonight or tomorrow. Rain threatened for a time last evening but did not come. The skies darkened in the southeastern direction and a strong wind sprang up, giving much relief, but the humidity became oppressive again later in the night.

On the 24th anniversary of his pastorate yesterday, Rev. Dr. Ellis B. Burgess, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, refused to accept an increase of $300 on the year in his salary, which is now $2,400.

Dr. Burgess is of the belief that money does not weigh in all matters and therefore preferred to continue his work at his present salary. About two years ago Dr. Burgess also refused to accept an increase. A few weeks ago he refused to accept a call extended him by the congregation of the Lutheran church of Greensburg.

The church council at the annual congregational meeting yesterday morning asked the congregation for $1,100, for the floating indebtedness of the church. The sum of $1,400 was readily given.

The report of contributions for the year ending on June 1 was as follows: General fund, $3,743.29; building fund, $2,412.52; benevolence, $879.34; total, $10,635.25. It was reported that during the year $1,309 was raised for all objects.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. S. G. Zimmerman of the Ladies Aid society, Mrs. Charles C. Mitchell reported the society had an active membership of 96 and as having raised $609 during the church year.

The church council proposed that amendment be added to the church constitution whereby the church council would be increased from 10 to 16 members. The congregation favorably voted on it.

HICKEY EIGHTH, TAKES $1,600 IN SPEEDWAY RACES

Official Figures on Indianapolis Event Shows Fayette Countian Winner.

DENNY DISPLACES VAIL

Goes the Entire Distance With But One Stop, That Because His Mechanician Becomes Ill; Handicapped by Break in His Machine.

After several attempts, Denny Hickey, Connellsville devotee of the motor speed game, has won for himself a place among the kings of the track. At Indianapolis Saturday, in the international sweepstakes, the youthful young driver finished in eighth place and thereby won a purse of $1,600, according to announcement of Frank H. Rosboro of Uniontown, chairman of the contest committee at the races last night on his return to Uniontown. While the name of Hickey did not appear among the winners announced through the press yesterday, a check of the records on Saturday evening, Mr. Rosboro said, gave Hickey the eighth position. There were 16 winners. It was said Ira Vail, who was first awarded the eighth position, will protest the award to Hickey.

Denny covered the 500-mile course in a few seconds over six hours and 13 minutes, making an average speed of 80.15 miles an hour. The best speed of the day, made by Howard Wilcox, was 87.35 miles.

Hickey was running in 10th place, on the 150th lap, when Louis Chevrolet tore off a wheel and as a result wrecked the electrical timing device. After that the count was made by checkers and for a time count, so far as it was possible to announce, was lost. It was not until the reports of the checkers had been verified, which was about 11 o'clock Saturday night, that the result was definitely known and the place awarded to Hickey.

After the accident to Chevrolet two of the drivers dropped out and this convinced backers of the Connellsville boy that he could not have finished lower than seventh or eighth place.

Hickey made a great run, though the jinx that followed him in the races in Uniontown did not entirely desert him. He made the 500-mile course on one set of tires and with one stop, that for the purpose of changing mechanic, the one with whom he had started becoming ill. The last 50 laps were covered with a broken machine, a cross bar having snapped.

After covering 201 laps Hickey started in on the 202nd one, for good measure. A quarter of a mile from the finish he ran out of gasoline.

The car that carried the Connellsville driver to fame and a share of the $50,000 prize awarded to the winners, was a Hudson Special, built up of chassis owned by the late Hughie Hughes, who was killed on the Calontown speedway, and a Hudson motor.

The revised results of the races, received through Mr. Rosboro, shows the following: Wilcox first, Hearne second, Gaur third, Guyot fourth, Alley fifth, L. Chevrolet sixth, DePalma seventh, Hickey eighth, Gaston Chevrolet ninth and Thomas 10th.

Hickey first entered the speedway races at Uniontown while he was a mechanic for the Wells-Mills Motor Car company of Connellsville, participating in a dealers' race. He participated in the meet in Uniontown in May but failed to score. Immediately afterward he began tuning up for the bigger event at Indianapolis.

Howard Wilcox of Indianapolis won the race and the main prize of $20,000. Two drivers, Arthur Thurnham of Newark, N. J., and Louis Leococ of the latter's mechanician, both of Los Angeles, Cal., were killed. The two Californians were burned to death when their car turned over and dashed, flaming gasoline over them.

TERMS TO AUSTRIA, ADRIATIC QUESTION UNSOLVED, GIVEN TO ENVOYS AT ST. GERMAIN

Fifteen Days in Which to Present Reply Allowed; Complaint Made About Delay in the Delivery.

CLEMENCEAU MAKES THREE-MINUTE SPEECH

By Associated Press. ST. GERMAIN, June 2.—Austria was today given 15 days to reply to the terms of peace presented by the Allied nations.

Paul Dutasta, general secretary of the peace conference, presented the terms to the Austrians at 12:27 o'clock. Dr. Karl Renner, the Austrian chancellor and head of the delegation, then began an address in French. The entire peace treaty was not presented to the Austrians today and the 15-day stipulation with regard to their reply refers only to the portion of the terms handed them at today's session.

Premier Clemenceau spoke in French. His remarks were translated into English, then into Italian and then into German.

Dr. Renner opened with a complaint at the delay in the presentation of the peace terms. The chancellor declared the Austrian republic was entirely free from the Hapsburg dynasty. It would never have declared war itself, he asserted. The chancellor concluded his address at 12:50 o'clock.

PARIS, June 2.—The terms of peace were presented to the Austrians today with the problem of the Adriatic plains of Italy unsolved. The council of four held a brief meeting before going to St. Germain this morning. Premier Orlando of Italy and Colonel E. M. House of the United States being present. During the meeting the Adriatic question was discussed.

The Austrians were escorted in by an Italian officer. Immediately upon their arrival the session was formally opened by announcement of the head usher. Premier Clemenceau at once began his address.

M. Clemenceau spoke only three minutes. The hall was densely packed, many of the secretaries having been admitted to the chamber and the denseness of the throng detracted somewhat from the impressiveness of the ceremonies.

Mrs. Dick in her girlhood united with the Presbyterian church and after her marriage she joined the United Presbyterian church of which she had been a devout member for about 50 years. She was the first president of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church at New Florence and the organizer of the Christian Culture class of the local church, and teacher of the class until her health commenced to fail. THREE COKE REGION BOYS

Honored in Impressive Memorial Day Services at State College.

Exceptionally impressive exercises were held at Pennsylvania State College on Memorial Day in honor of the boys of that institution who gave their lives in the great war for freedom.

Among the 71 young men to whose memory tribute was paid were three coke region boys: Milton L. Bishop of Connelville, member of the class of 1916, who was killed in action on July 30, 1918, while serving as sergeant of Company D, 110th Infantry; Howard C. Braddock, Mount Pleasant, member of the class of 1910, captain of Supply Company, 110th Infantry, who died of pneumonia December 24, 1918, and Hugh D. Shallenberger, Jr., Vanderbilt, member of the class of 1918, who was killed in action while serving as second lieutenant with the 56th Infantry near Prey Ridge, November 1, 1918.

H. D. Shallenberger, father, and Miss Ruth Shallenberger, sister of Lieutenant Shallenberger, attended the memorial services, returning home Thursday evening.

SPEAKS GOOD WORD FOR HER RESCUER

Mrs. Fred Schulte, 101 W. Durham St., Philadelphia, believes in giving credit where credit is due. "I had a run-down system," she says, "and suffered from stomach trouble and a nervous form of indigestion. I would get all upset with a sort of inside nervousness, sometimes with headaches around my temples and eyes. Felt as if something inside me would just jump out and I had more or less electricity with it all. I heard where Tanlac had helped cases like mine. It didn't take me long to find out Tanlac was just the remedy for me."

The genuine J. L. Gave Co. Tanlac is sold here by Beighley's, Harmon's and Connelville drug stores and other leading druggists in every community.

FRANK RUTTER DIES

Veteran Musician Had Been Identified With Uniontown Band 40 Years.

Following an illness of several years Frank Rutter, 63 years old, one of the best known residents of Uniontown and well known in musical circles in Fayette county, died Sunday morning at the Elks home at Bedford, Va., where he had been living since last fall. For the past 50 years Mr. Rutter had devoted his time in the interest of musical organizations of Uniontown and vicinity and taught a large number of the bandmen and orchestras in and about Uniontown.

Mr. Rutter was identified with Rutter's band of Uniontown for more than 40 years, a musical organization which his father, the late George W. Rutter, Jr., had organized immediately after the Civil War. At the time of the organization, Frank Rutter, a boy of 12, played the cornet, but he was soon playing the baritone horn and he succeeded his father as director before he attained his majority. The deceased is survived by four daughters and eight grandchildren.

Will Wed Tomorrow.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Duncan, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Duncan of Trotter, and Joseph King, Jr., of Evanson, will be solemnized tomorrow morning in the Immaculate Conception church. Miss Duncan is one of the most widely and favorably known young women of Trotter and has a number of friends in Connelville.

Miss Brooks Taken Ill.

While visiting at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brooks in Pittsburgh, Miss Anna Brooks was taken ill very suddenly and while her condition is greatly improved she will not be able to return home for several days.

Horse is "Arrested."

A horse running at large was picked up in West Crawford avenue yesterday morning by Patrolman Bulli. A charge was entered on the police docket and the animal locked up in a livery stable. Nothing had been heard from the owner this morning.

Use Resinol first for skin troubles

Delay in the proper treatment of skin troubles is dangerous. Every day spent in trying unproved remedies may only let the disorder spread and become more and more deeply seated. The value of Resinol Ointment is known. For over twenty years it has been used as a soothing, healing remedy for the skin.

If applied in time, it usually checks the itching and reduces the eruption right away. But even in stubborn, long-standing cases, it is surprising how quickly this gentle, yet effective ointment brings results. All druggists sell Resinol Ointment. Ask with friend for the real Resinol of Resinol Ointment.

MRS. MAY COULD NOT WORK

Made Well and Strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbia, Pa.—"I was very weak and run down and had dragging-down pains and pains in my back. I could not get around to do my work and had to sit down and rest oftentimes during the day. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers and read the testimonials, so I thought I would try it. Now I am healthier than I ever was in my life, and can recommend it to any woman who suffers as I did."

Mrs. ELIZABETH MAY, R.F.D. No. 1, Columbia, Pa.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and the letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine.

The committees are working in harmony and the finance committee as well as the others are meeting with great success.

Summer Home Ready.
The Presbyterian summer home in the Indian creek valley is being made ready to open and already two week schedules are being made up for parties desirous of spending their vacations there. Each year a new slogan is found for the home. This year it is "Our Summer Home is Not a Fashionable Summer Resort, but a Place to Wear Out Old Clothes. Everybody Does."

Each year this home becomes more popular and more work is put on it, and each year some improvement is added. This year there is a telephone. The place may be reached through the Stahtstown central. It is listed as the Presbyterian bungalow. On last Wednesday 2,800 pounds of donations were sent to the home. A hotel kitchen range has been purchased.

Roaring Run, where the home is located, is a spot of beauty, especially at this time of the year. Swimming is one of the most popular sports.

Smithfield.

SMITHFIELD, June 2.—Soldiers of three wars participated in the Memorial Day exercises here last Friday. The exercises were held in the afternoon, the parade forming on Main street. The Baptist cemetery was visited first and the graves there decorated, services being concluded at the grave of Captain James Abraham in accordance with the G. A. R. ritual. The parade then reformed and marched to the I. O. O. F. cemetery, and services held there. Following the exercises there the parade reformed and marched to the Baptist church where the day's program was concluded. The orator of the day was Rev. W. M. Bracken, a former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of this place. General Logan's order and Lincoln's Gettysburg address were read by J. A. Rankin, commander of Jerry Jones Post, No. 1, and a Mr. Board gave short talks, relating some of their experiences with the American Expeditionary Forces.

There were 11 members of Jerry Jones Post present, a very small minority of the original membership of 92. Since its organization in 1886 the post has celebrated at 32 burials.

Civil War veterans participating in Friday's exercises included A. J. Smith, J. A. Rankin, G. A. Grimm, W. M. Mayfield, J. M. D. Lowe, Hays Gaskill, Jonathan Walls, G. W. Bruner, J. Johnson and H. O'Neill. G. W. Bruner, the youngest member of the post, is 72 years old.

Edward Hiett of Brownsville, a veteran of three wars, was here for the day, but did not participate in the exercises. He has the unique distinction of being the oldest citizen holding a government commission in the late war. He served as an inspector of ordinance. He is 76 years old.

Professional Examinations.
The professional examinations will be held in the North Union high school building on June 6th and 7th, 1919. Instead of the Dubber borough, which was formerly advertised, J. S. Carroll, county superintendent.—Adv. 2-31.

Smoking a Cause of Cancer. Cancer of the mouth in civilized countries has been greatly reduced by good dentistry. Eighty-five per cent of the cancers of the lip occur in smokers. Formerly clay pipes, which became very hot, were much used, and there has been a notable reduction in the number of cancers of the lip since the clay pipe has gone out of fashion. Smoking, however, is the cause of most cancer of the lip, the tongue and the floor of the mouth.—Maj. W. J. Mayo, War Department Lectures.

At the Theatres

THE PARAMOUNT.

"TWO WOMEN"—A powerful drama, splendidly acted and with rare settings, is being presented today. Anita Stewart is seen as Enid Arden, a mountain child who has given her heart and her promise to John Leighton, clean living and thinking man, just freed as both believe, from the woman who had proved herself unworthy of his affection. In Enid's mountain home, she and John are planning for their marriage when the wife comes in just paroled from the latest paramour. John with true vision sees there is only parity in her protestations of remorse and new born love. But Enid sees her as a child and although it breaks her heart, she renounces her own love and bids him to return with his wife, to remake her again a woman. Miss Stewart rises to new dramatic heights in this great scene, only one of many however, of many of this great drama of contrasting woman types, written by James Oliver Curwood. Supporting Miss Stewart are Earle Williams, Julia Swayne Gordon, Frank Carrier, Harry Northrup. The settings abound in beautiful mountain scenes. The production will also be shown tomorrow. Wednesday Rupert Julian will be featured in "The Fire Fighters." Thursday Shirley Mason, the charming screen star, will be presented in "The Unwritten Code." "A Man and His Money," with Tom Moore in the leading role, will be shown on Friday and Saturday.

THE SOISSON.

"THE ISLAND OF INTRIGUE"—A stirring romance of love and adventure, in which May Allison enacts the leading role, is an interesting attraction today. The story deals with the abduction of a wealthy society girl by a band of blackmailers who spirit her off to a lonely island in the Pacific ocean where they hold her for a fabulous ransom. How she outwits them and effects her escape is shown in a series of thrilling incidents which culminate in a startling denouement. Romance is cleverly interwoven in the gripping plot and the heroine adds to her experiences by falling in love with a young man whose reasons for being on the island are as strange as her own. Miss Allison is seen at her glowing best in the character of Malda and others of noteworthy mention in the cast are Jack Mower, Frederick Vroom, Mrs. Lucille Ward, Gordon Marr, Lillian West and Hector V. Sarno. The play is cleverly constructed and is exceedingly well acted. A selected comedy will be repeated tomorrow. Wednesday and Thursday Frank Keenan will be featured in "More Trouble." Harold Lockwood and May Allison will be presented in "The Web of Intrigue," on Friday and Saturday.

only alternative, and the propaganda having been so industriously circulated that signing means little less than signing a death warrant, the members of the peace delegation apparently lack the courage to face the wrath of their countrymen by consenting to attach their signatures. Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the delegation, has asserted and reasserted that he will not sign, declaring that he is willing to carry on the negotiations until all hope of obtaining concessions is past. Then he will resign and leave to some one else the odious duty of actually signing the peace pact.

If the information that is sent out from Berlin can be interpreted as correctly representing the attitude of the Germans on the treaty, the men who sign the document on behalf of Germany will be acclaimed traitors to their country. Due allowance for these per-fervid outbursts can be made when it is remembered that the "observations" of the German delegates on the treaty, which they have submitted to the Allies, do not contain a declaration, or implication
even, that the treaty will not be signed.
Instead, the note of the German delegates merely seeks to resolve the peace negotiations into a discussion of the provisions, as Germany has hoped from the beginning, in order to obtain as many concessions as the craft and cunning of her representatives can secure.

So long as there is any possibility whatever of securing any easement in the terms the German delegates, and their supporters in Berlin, will continue to declaim and protest. This may even be continued to such a point that still more German territory will have to be occupied by the Allied armies as a means of obliging Germany to do what she very plainly realizes must eventually be done. Such a development may not be unexpected because it will afford the junker element of Germany an opportunity to say to the people that they have been coerced into signing the treaty under threat of military force. That may serve to save the political reputations and fortunes of some of Germany's prominent leaders, but it will only delay
the day when Germany must bow to the inevitable.

THE KEY TO PROGRESS.

"It matters not whether we are dealing with railroads, with a merchant marine, with manufacturers or with agriculture," says Jonathan Bourne, president of the Republican Publicity association, "if we are to have healthy development there must be held out the inducement of probable profits as a reward for successful endeavor."
"Few people in this world work
for their health or the mere pleasure of working. In a national emergency men are impelled by patriotism to make great sacrifices. In some times of effort, as in public life, literature, art or science, men work largely for the renown that goes with success.
But in the business world, where men risk their capital, there will be slight progress unless there is greater probability of financial success than of failure."

"It may safely be put down as axiomatic, therefore, that any industry operating under either natural or artificial disadvantages which leave small hope of financial rewards will languish or cease to exist. Recognition of that truth was the basis of the Republican policy of a Protective Tariff which is designed to assure American producers that they will not be driven out of business by competition with cheaper production abroad.
Recognition of that truth is the basis of Socialism, Bolshevism, I. W. Wism, and all otherisms that propose to reorganize the world upon an idealistic scheme which denies to enterprise reasonable rewards for success."

"The fundamental fault of government ownership is that it removes the incentive presented by the hope of financial reward. Regulatory legislation is undoubtedly necessary to protect the rights of all the people, but those regulations become ineffectual to the interests of all when they tend to retard development. In this vitally important period of reconstruction we shall do well to keep constantly in mind the lessons taught by experience and avoid in the future those policies which lead to regression and strangulation."

The speedy runner still speeds on the business of the undertakers.

CLOCK TIME VS. SUN TIME.

Opposition to the Daylight-Saving law manifests itself in many of the rural communities, says the Philadelphia Ledger. Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, newly equipped with lance, buckler and shield, and eager for a joust with the forces of opposition and evil, announces his intent to have the law repealed. Senator Capper's constituency is largely agricultural, both in its pursuits and in its leanings. In-dubitably, it will rally round the Senator. One gifted with Senator Capper's perspicacity must have foreseen that "One seeking, in a rural community, the root, as it were, of this antipathy to the law was rewarded with two expressions." In negotiation, "I'll have no Democratic time in my house," said one hoary-headed partisan. The other, a woman, phrased the social rather than the political viewpoint in her opposition to the law. "We have to milk the cows in the middle of the afternoon to get to town in time for the picture show." That was her point, and it was well taken. But, most likely, both views were superficial. The real opposition to the Daylight-Saving law probably lies in a deeper level of the rural mind. The average farmer feels no disgrace so keenly as that of lying abed until 5 o'clock in the morning. He fears that staying up until 1 o'clock at night may earn for him the unjust reputation of being a rounder and a rolster-er. The Daylight-Saving law makes him a sluggard in the morning and a wastrel at night.

Most of the fuss is over trifles. We go slinging into battle. Tossing heavily upon a bed of pain, our lips are mute. "We meet the greater sorrows of life with calmness and dignity and accept its heavier burdens and responsibilities without a murmur. We lose poise and all sense of proportion when there is nothing at stake. And that, if it has one, is the moral of such opposition as the Daylight-Saving law encounters.

Almost every body, with the possible exception of the Pittsburgh parade boosters, will sympathize with the desire of the men of the 80th Division to be allowed to go to their friends as quickly as possible and without any more ado over their return to the homeland.

The sweet girl graduate and her charming sister, the June bride, will soon be occupying a large place in the stimulation and affections of friends and the always interested public.

If Germany wants a real goat to sign the peace pact, why not nominate Von Brunsdorf or the ex-Governor Prince? It is to be regarded as "a scrap of paper" any way, so what difference does it make who signs it on the part of Germany?

Having appropriated Lieutenant
"Casey" Jones as one of its distinguished soldiers we may not be surprised to hear of Pittsburgh taking Company D and the Medical Detachment over bodily.

The Spirit of The American Legion

William Stevens McNitt in Collins Weekly.

The American soldier in the Great War dedicated his life to the establishment of justice, freedom and democracy in the world. Analytical wise guys have been busy ever since America got into the war furnishing cynical explanations of the American fighting man's impelling motive.

In spite of the complex arguments of the analytical psychologists who can understand anything but the simple sincerity of an honest man,
the American soldier did fight in war
for the establishment of those principles, and he has every intention of working in peace for the preservation of that for which he fought.

I talked of the purposes of the American Legion with Colonel Roosevelt. In his conversation, as he explained them to me, the word
"crystallization" occurred again and again.

"We want," he said, "to crystallize
the spirit that made it possible for us to get into this war and to fight it as we did."
Do you realize, you who read this,
what that spirit is that this organization wants to crystallize and preserve?
I'll give you an example of it that I saw.

A shattered church in the Marine salient during the latter part of July.
It was filled with freshly wounded soldiers. The shells were whining over and bursting about it. A slim, big-eyed, very boyish boy was brought in all shot to pieces. He was a very ordinary American boy, certainly not more than 18. A medical major was passing.

"Hey, doc," the young fellow called weakly.
"What is it, son," the major asked,
bending above him.

"Tell me, doc," the boy begged huskily. "Am I—am I—bad hit?"
The major looked at the descriptive slip with which the wounded boy was tagged and hesitated. He knew the young fellow had less than half an hour of life left in him.

"Well, I'll tell you, son," he said slowly. "You're in a pretty bad way, but we're going to do all we can for you."

The boy—who was a very ordinary young fellow, as I have said—saw the truth under the thin camouflage of kindness.

He knew he was dead. He caught his breath quickly, closed his eyes, and reaching up, caught hold of the major's hand and held it tightly for a little time.

Then he sighed, opened his eyes, and folded his arms contentedly on his breast. He looked up at the major, and there was the calm light of a glad resignation on his face.

"Well, anyhow," he whispered,
triumphantly, "I guess I made good,
didn't I?"
"You sure did, son," the major assured him.

Speaking of June Weddings

freedom and democracy.
That's the spirit that the American Legion wants to crystallize, to perpetuate, to preserve and translate into terms of constructive civilian effort that will insure the continuation in force of the principles that the soldier fought to save.

SCOTSDALE, June 2.—Twenty-four members were received into Commandore Perry Council No. 178 of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics Saturday evening. Thirty-six are on the list for the next meeting.
The lodge now numbers about 200.
A membership campaign in progress will end June 30. By that time it is hoped the membership will have been increased by 150. Officers will be elected the first meeting night in July.

Boy Scouts Appreciated Here.
Uniontown Morning Herald.
Connellsville has just concluded a campaign of interest and profit. Starting out to raise a fund of $3,000 for the Connellsville Boy Scouts, collectors acquired practically $3,000 more than the quota. With this money a permanent Boy Scout camping headquarters will be purchased and equipped for the boys
where commodious quarters, a swimming pool and recreation facilities will be available a half dozen miles or so from the city. It is a most commendable enterprise on the part of the Connellsville citizens. It shows a practical appreciation of the work of the boys and the possibilities of the organization.

Connellsville has eight troops of Boy Scouts with a membership of at least 200. Seven with eight troops there are boys whose names are on the waiting list for membership. It is planned in the future to bring a Boy Scout executive to Connellsville to supervise the work which is constantly expanding.

Uniontown, now has two troops with a membership of approximately sixty.
There ought to be at least a half dozen troops here.

THE NURSE.
She hides her care beneath a tender smile;
She tells long hours as though it were a joy.
No greater art than this can map employ
To make a work of beauty well worth while
And hide beneath lovely touches, deft
and true,
All signs of anxious, weary toil from view.
She wakes from sleep as one who has not slept.
To smooth the pillow of her patient's bed;
Her voice conceals her secret
thoughts of dread;
She only knows the vigil she has kept.
Grin duty by her art is robed in grace
And something lovely decks the commonplace.
She'd count that failure should her patient guess.
That she is worried, overtired and faint.
Or hear from her one whisper of complaint.
The true nurse must not show her own distress.
To kindly ways and lovely she consents.
The weariness her spirit often feels.
She tells as one who does not toil for hire.
Does ugly service in a queenly way.
As one who asks but gratitude for pay.
She keeps her post but never seems to tire.
She loves her work, yet such the art
thereof
She makes of it a glorious work of love.

SCREEN EARLY

It is important to screen your windows and doors early. The fly that flits the face, lights on food, leaves in it's wake disease and death. You cannot kill each fly but you can keep them out by proper screening. A mild winter causes numerous flies. One fly now makes a thousand later. The Union Supply Company has ample preparations to take care of all your screen wants—screen doors, screen windows, or any sort of wire screen you want.
We also have a complete line of porch equipment, consisting of swings, easy chairs, Crex rugs. There has been a great demand for all this class of goods but we still have good stocks and can provide your wants.

THE ENGINEER HAS ESCAPED SERIOUS RESULTS HE SAYS

Perry Anderson, No. 6230 Butler St., Pittsburgh, is Praising Plant Juice.

The history of Plant Juice, the way in which the manufacturer first made it, and the great events that followed have been the subject of numerous newspaper articles throughout America, but here is something more to the point. Plant Juice is now being introduced in Pennsylvania and it has already a firm hold here, where it is reviving and revitalizing hundreds of citizens in all walks of life. That this statement is true is only necessary to listen to the testimonials of local people who have given Plant Juice a trial.

For instance the signed testimonial of Mr. Perry Anderson, who resides at No. 6230 Butler street, Pittsburgh, and is employed as engineer by one of the large firms of that city, and has hosts of friends, as he has resided here for the past 18 years and is a man of the utmost honor and integrity, stated:

"For the past six or seven years I had a great deal of trouble with my stomach and all the medicines I had taken failed to give me relief. I had dreadful pains in the pit of my stomach, which was all bloated with gas. I had headaches and was very dizzy at times, had no appetite and could not keep anything in my stomach. I could scarcely sleep at night. I was so nervous and did not know what to do to find relief. Finally a friend told me of Plant Juice and advised me to try it. I did so, and I am now glad to state that I found it to be just the medicine I needed, as it has put my stomach in fine shape. I sleep well at night and can eat anything I want and digest it. I am glad to recommend Plant Juice to others."

Plant Juice is sold in Connellville at Roy Kietzer's Drug Store.—Adv.

Dawson.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women.

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits over-time.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork.

By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest, excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood, lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardice, are due to a large measure to abused nerves.

People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind, vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance, in be not half a man but as much as a man now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-feron every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before, if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feron is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, run-down, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—all many packages.

BY-PRODUCT PLANT AT CLAIRTON MOST COMPLETE IN DETAIL

Says Supt. Marquard in a Paper
Before the American Iron and Steel Institute.

HAS A CHOICE LOCATION

With Respect to Economy in Transportation of Coal and Market for Coke, Gas and Other Products, Is New Using 12,500 Tons Coal Daily.

Before the last meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute, Frank F. Marquard, superintendent of the Clairton By-Product Coke Company, states that "the Clairton by-product coke plant, without exaggeration, stands today as the climax in the development of the by-product coke oven industry of the world."

"It is the most comprehensive in plan of operation, the largest in size and in detail of construction the most complete."

"The delayed recognition of the merits of the by-product coke oven industry has resulted in enormous waste. In the past 25 years, in this country, the by-product ovens have wasted in tar and gas, reduced to coal equivalent, an amount equal to over 300,000,000 tons of coal, and a waste of over $400,000,000 worth of ammonia, and over $500,000,000 worth of benzol products, these conservative amounts being based in each case on subnormal prices."

The by-product ovens are primitive, crude, wasteful, and, in the light of the present day experience in the operation of by-product ovens, the by-product oven will soon play a very minor part in the coke production of the country.

"In the past few years there has been a wonderful awakening. The construction of by-product ovens has been greatly extended. Their merit as an essential industry in time of war, as well as peace, is now recognized by our government as of national interest, as well as of economic interest in the development of the iron and steel industry."

"In the year 1915 60,000,000 tons of coke were produced in this country—30,000,000 by the by-product ovens and 30,000,000 by the beehive ovens; and this year, 1935, will mark the turning point in favor of the production of by-product coke."

"In planning the construction and operation of this large plant, three important questions were very carefully considered: "Location so as to effect maximum economy in transportation of coal, gas and coke."

"Type of oven and recovery apparatus most effective for the production of the best metallurgical coke from the coking of 100 per cent high volatile coal."

"Market for the coke, tar, gas, ammonia, benzol, coke dust and domestic coke."

"As to location, we have been extremely fortunate in having a site located north and adjacent to the Clairton steel plant of the Carnegie Steel Company. This site is 5,200 feet long and 1,800 feet wide, lying along the western shore of the Monongahela river, 20 miles south of Pittsburgh, and large enough for the construction of 24 batteries of 64 ovens to the battery."

"Twelve batteries, 76 ovens, are completed, with a daily coal consumption of 12,500 net tons of coal per 24 hours."

"In order to handle these large quantities of coal and coke, we found it necessary to construct a river fleet of 120 barges and seven towboats, to transport our coal from the mines to the ovens; eight miles of main line track and 20 miles of yard track; a 40-inch diameter gas line, nine miles long, to deliver the gas to Duquesne, Homestead, Edgar Thompson and Clairton steel works; seventy-five 10,000-gallon tank cars for tar and benzol; 500 steel hopper coke cars; coal storage yard of 250,000 net tons capacity, to take care of a possible interruption in our river traffic in winter months and to assure uniform operation, etc."

"The coking of 100 per cent high volatile coal for the production of suitable metallurgical coke had not yet passed beyond the experimental low coke consumption in a manner most satisfactory."

"The plant is equipped with two electrically operated coal hoists, each hoist consisting of two 5-ton hoisting buckets having a lifting capacity of 500 tons per hour. The coal is lifted from the barges and dropped into a 150-ton hopper, from which it is spread over a shaking screen to roll-crushers. This screen has slotted openings 2 1/2-inch by 11-inch and the crusher rolls are set 2-inch openings, so that approximately 60 per cent of the coal passes through the shaking screens, the oversize going through the rolls, leaving the rolls to crush only the large lumps. Thus we are able to secure a maximum density of coal; that is, there is always when the Clairton plant was designed and considerable interest was centered upon the performance of the blast furnaces using this by-product coke made from 100 per cent high volatile coal. The results obtained at the Clairton Steel Works blast furnaces soon demonstrated that the coke could be used successfully in place of beehive coke. Not only did these blast furnaces increase their production of pig iron, but they did so on a lower coke consumption; and the larger blast furnaces of Duquesne and Edgar Thompson, after some preliminary adjustments, quickly responded by increased production and ways sufficient fines present in the coal to fill up the voids however coarse the coal may be crushed, and experiments have shown that by this method of crushing we are able to secure a coal of maximum density. Coal crushed in this manner will average 53 1/2 pounds per cubic foot, while coal pulverized by hammer mills will average six to eight per cent less per cubic foot."

"The ovens are Koppers standard 500 cubic foot ovens, 37 feet face to face of doors, 17 inches wide on the burner side and 19 1/2 inches wide on the coke side, 8 feet 10 inches floor to roof and 9 feet floor to top of coal when charged. Each battery of 64 ovens is made up of 232 different silica shapes and 58 clay shapes. The total 9-inch brick equivalent for each battery is approximately 2,526,000 bricks."

"From a daily consumption of 12,500 tons of coal from Lower Connellsville district, the results in net tons and of coal used percentage at the Clairton plant have been as follows: Dry screened furnace coke, 8,000 tons, or 62 per cent; small size, domestic coke, 520 tons, or 4.2 per cent; coke dust, 200 tons, or 7.2 per cent."

The by-product in quantities and percentages per net ton of coal have been as follows: Coal tar, 160,000 gallons, or 12 per cent; sulphate of ammonia, 182 net tons, or 2.5 per cent; crude heavy solvents, 1,400 gallons, or 0.11 per cent; pure toluol, 7,400 gallons, or 0.57 per cent; crude light solvents, 2,800 gallons, or 0.22 per cent; surplus gas, (575 Btu.) 75,000,000 cubic feet, or 6,000 cubic feet per net ton."

CATHOLIC AGENTS JOIN JOB FINDING WORK

Seek to Secure Employment for Men Who Wore Khaki
and Blue.

Finding 400 jobs for soldiers and sailors each day, 10,000 active workers are now enlisted in the re-employment forces of the National Catholic War Council. It was reported today at the headquarters of this organization in this city. From the great city centers to the rural cross-roads communities this work of finding the job for the man and the man for the job is being rapidly extended through their diocesan and parish organizations, the heads of the Catholic council declare. Until it covers every county in the whole country and has placed at good work and wages the last lad to lay off khaki or blue, it is promised that this big re-employment army will be kept in full operation, geared up to the pace of finding places for fully a thousand men a day.

Through 50 employment experts, who are covering the United States as field agents to organize every Catholic force in every locality, the National Catholic War Council is directing the daily activities of the regiments of re-employment workers that are being collated throughout dioceses and parishes. From 40 offices, established in San Francisco, New York, St. Louis, Boston, Chicago, Omaha, Philadelphia, Butte, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Detroit, Denver, Seattle, Tacoma, Los Angeles and other industrial centers, in co-operation with the United States employment service, canvasses of employers and registration of applicants are being conducted as a basis for getting jobs for demobilized fighters.

Thousands of Knights of Columbus are also co-operating throughout the country in this campaign, which begins at overseas and demobilization camps and follows the men through to the best positions obtainable at home.

MAKES DURABLE FENCE

Saplings Planted Years Ago Serve as Posts.

A fence that has no posts was recently cited by a lumber expert as an object lesson in the utility of wood. This fence without posts is on the big road to Monroe, Mich.

Sixty years ago that nobody in the section knew when it was, nor who was the labor-saving genius who did it, this fence was built by forcing split boards between saplings. Then the trees grew.

"They kept growing, until now they are of immense size, and deeply imbedded in them are the ends of those old rails. It is impossible to tell how far they extend into the tree trunks. They are weathered, yet they ring as true under a hammer as though just hewn."

It happened that the trees formed a boundary line for one of the old tracts. The growth of the trees around the rail ends has created one of the most substantial fences imaginable.

THREE HOURS' SLEEP

Woman Declares That Enough in Any Twenty-Four.

Three hours' sleep in any 24 is enough for any one. At least this is the assertion of Mrs. M. E. Wishard of Seattle, who says she has followed this rule for the last 19 years.

"My health is perfect. Due to the fact that I avoid coffee, drink only one cup of tea a day and sleep soundly," she said.

Sixteen years ago she decided she was not improving her time to the best advantage, so she loaded up with business enterprises. She obtained a downtown hotel, a boarding house, a restaurant and a grocery store, all of which she personally manages. Three years ago she built the halibut schooner Si-loom. The vessel paid for itself in the first year. After another year's operation Mrs. Wishard sold the vessel.

Its Bow to Connellsville.

Not a Cent Risked in Making the Test—Dollar Back If Nerv-Worth Does Not Better Your Health.

James G. England of Zanesville, O., chief demonstrator of Nerv-Worth, is at the Connellsville Drug Company's store, this city, putting on one of those Nerv-Worth campaigns which have so deeply impressed druggists and consumers alike, wherever carried on.

WHAT NERV-WORTH DOES Nerv-Worth is a family tonic of the very highest order—the best in the world for men, women and children. Daily, wherever sold, Nerv-Worth is making over the health of those suffering from dyspepsia, indigestion, bowel troubles, heart flutter, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness, sick and nervous headaches, low spirits, weakness, weariness, those draggy feelings, run-down conditions and other ailments of nervous origin.

EFFECTIVE, YET WHOLLY HARMLESS Nerv-Worth strikes at the root of these disorders and strikes swiftly and effectively. Not stopping with mere relief, it steadies the nerves, tones them up and makes them over, bringing the system back to health.

OVERCOMES "FLU" AFTER EFFECTS In the Nerv-Worth statements which are to follow this announcement, readers will find strong evidence in favor of Nerv-Worth as an up-builder for those whose systems, and especially their nervous systems, have been wrecked by the influenza.

COKE WORKERS' PRAISE Nerv-Worth fame is due in part to the extraordinary number of signed endorsements given by its grateful users. Here follows a typical one. It was given about a week ago by Burt McFadden, who lives at Hutchinson, Pa., near Uniontown, and works at the Oliphant coke works. This is what he said to Uniontown's Nerv-Worth druggist:

Wade H. Guyton—For a long time I have suffered with misery in my back and rheumatic pains in my shoulders. My appetite and digestion were in very bad condition. Was very nervous and could not get restful sleep. Could not work except in terrible pain. I was in such a miserable and run down condition and suffering with pain that in order to get out of bed or mornings I would have to use all my strength. I purchased a bottle of Nerv-Worth from you and took it as directed and my nervousness, misery in my back, rheumatic pains and all digestive troubles have left me and I am now feeling like a new man and able to do a good day's work.

BURT MCFADDEN, Hutchinson, Pa. NOT A CENT OF RISK Talk with Demonstrator England at the Connellsville Drug Company's store. Let him acquaint you with the looks and taste of Nerv-Worth. He freely dispenses sample doses. Buy and try a bottle of the tonic. Your dollar back if your health is not bettered.—Adv.

What Is Biggest Woodcock? What is said to be the heaviest woodcock was one shot by Arthur Duane near Whitaker's L. I. about thirty years ago. The woodcock was mounted by Bell, the leading taxidermist of the day, but unfortunately it was later on destroyed by moths.

This woodcock was weighed on a druggist's scales at Southampton and weighed exactly 14 ounces. There are several witnesses living who can testify as to the weight. The naturalists give the average weight of woodcock as ranging from five to nine ounces.

CAP and BELLS

A NEW REMEDY. "Oh, dear, we have had much trouble with our son Archibald," exclaimed Mrs. Hill-uppe at the bridge party. "We had to take him out of college because he overstudied."

The Query Department. Dear Star—Can you tell me what kind of wood these here xylophones that the vaudeville fellers play are made of?—Lumberman.

Answer—Nope, but they make such sandy harmony if they are well beaten that we suppose they make 'em out of chord wood.

Reason Enough. Gotton—What! Marry my daughter! Why, you must be destitute of reason!

Splendid Confusion. Ideas vast and glorious dreams Of thought now take command. And yet the more I read it seems The less I understand!

DICE of DESTINY

By
Jackson Gregory

"Or not far enough! Which is it?" His voice was stern now, and rang with defiance and triumph. He was sure of himself, of his position.

"I told you," he ran on, his cheeks flushed now, his voice ringing out still more clearly in the hush of the room. "I warned you that I should have asked twenty thousand dollars last night and you refused to make terms. You were a fool!"

"Now I ask fifty thousand! And I shall get it. I don't hide behind words; I am not afraid of the open! I play my game of dice where all men can see the ivory cubes roll out of the box!"

"It is I—I who have caused the disappearance of the Señor de la Guerra. It is I who have caused the señorita Teresa to be taken away from under your very eyes. And I do not deny it. For the game is mine!"

"You wouldn't dare—" began Stanway.

Torre's short laugh cut into his swift words. "Dare! Don't I dare everything to stand up this way before you and tell you what I have done, what I am going to do? Mother of God, señor, I dare anything!"

There was bravado in the words, arrogance, a haughty disdain of the men who held him prisoner, who looked into his face with hard, hungry eyes, who thirsted openly for his blood. He saw the look, saw the tightening of lean brown hands upon dagger hilt and revolver—and he laughed at them.

"By Heaven!" muttered Stanway half aloud, "he's a man anyway!"

He whirled and went out, calling his last short orders savagely. Gaucho was already at the patio, calling that the horses were ready, that several of the men had already ridden southward after the hammering hoofbeats. Stanway flung himself into the saddle, teeth set, face white, heart pounding madly.

Then he and Gaucho raced away upon the second invasion of a land at war with itself, where every man must carry his own hope in his own hand.

They rode across drying streams and through sun-baked arroyos, along dry, barren ridges, through little green valleys, across long wastes where the coyote hunted. And at night they came back, worn out by the merciless grind of the day upon spent horses whose legs trembled pitifully under them. And they had found what they found before—nothing.

Stanway did not stop to eat or to rest. He drank thirstily at the leaping fountain in the patio, and went immediately to the house and to the room which was now an improvised hospital ward for the accommodation of Pedro and Celestino.

He found Pedro conscious, very white and weak from the blood which he had lost. A doctor had come from La Panza and had gone, leaving him simple directions and simpler medicines.

Pedro would live. Here a knife had bit deep and had cost Pedro much blood, but by fortune and a fraction of an inch so vital point had been reached.

Celestino, as white and more weak than Pedro, lay very still, not having once regained consciousness. He might live, for Celestino had a wonderful store of health and vitality in that great frame of his. The doctor would come again, tonight or early tomorrow.

"Pedro," asked Stanway, with a quick glance at the other bed and then coming to Pedro's side, "how are things with you?"

"Not so bad, señor," Pedro answered faintly. "The señorita?"

"We have not found her yet," Stanway admitted regretfully. "But we shall find her soon, Pedro. Did you see the men who attacked you? Do you know where they escape from? We had sent out all night. They swore that no men came from across the border."

Pedro shook his head. "I was asleep, señor. Then I heard Celestino call out. I thought he was dreaming. I sat up, half asleep, you know, señor. Then I saw there were three men. I think. Perhaps four. I don't know. One struck poor Celestino as he sat up, and another sprang at him. But then they were upon me too, and I heard the señorita cry out, and they struck me over the head and put a knife into me here."

"And then they rushed into the señorita's room?"

"It is so hard to know what happened, señor. I don't think that they went into the señorita's room. When I woke my eyes went first to her door. It was always the first thing which I see when I wake. It was closed."

"I think that it was locked. I tell you I heard her call out while Celestino was being struck, before they made everything go black for me. There were other men in there."

"I suppose they came through the balcony. But these men—where did they go? How did they come in?" His voice sank to a trembling whisper. "Señor, can it be that some of the servants are traitors? That they have let these men in and let them go?"

"That is what I have been thinking all day, Pedro. But you mustn't think too much this time. I'll come to see you again."

"Wait a minute, señor. There is one other thing."

Stanway came back swiftly. "What is it?" he demanded sharply, seeing a light in Pedro's eyes which had not been in them before.

"It is something which I found. It fell from the hand of one of the men when Celestino struck back at him. I had them bring it to me here. I have not talked about it; I have waited for you."

His hand was fumbling under his blanket, and he brought a key, very heavy and old, made rudely of iron and, like the old keys of the mission days, some eight inches long.

"I am not sure," Pedro whispered, his eyes feverishly bright. "You can tell. Call for Josefa. She cares for the señor's rooms. Have her go there with you. Let her see if anything is missing. She will know; she has cared for his rooms for twenty years. Will you let me know, señor? Here is the key."

A sudden hope leaped up into Stanway's heart as his hand closed about the old key, a hope which in no way could be explained. If this were the key which unlocked the place where the old master—yes, and the young mistress—had been hidden, what then? He was as far as ever from knowing where was the lock which this key fitted. And yet Pedro's words—Josefa—

"I'll let you know, Pedro!" he called back from the door. And he was gone, walking swiftly through the house, asking for the old serving woman.

CHAPTER X.

A Bold Game. "You will know, Josefa, if there is anything missing from the master's room?"

"Si, señor. I know each little thing. There has been no change for many years."

The small, wrinkled, almost black face of the little old Indian woman looked up curiously into Stanway's.

"Then come. Let us hurry!" He led the way. They went through the drawing room, where one of the house servants was lighting the candles, where Torre was pacing back and forth, his restlessness showing for the first time.

Teresa de la Guerra's scream had sounded through the house early that morning—at three o'clock. The long day had dragged, and now it was growing dark.

Still Torre and Juarez were prisoners; still Dempson fretted and fumed and sulked in the great library.

Torre looked up quickly, his eyes eager, expectant. Stanway glanced at him, giving no satisfaction in the swift turning of his eyes. Torre frowned and bit at his lip. Juarez looked to his leader with both question and criticism in his gaze.

Josefa followed the rancher, and they passed on through the drawing room? The door closed behind them. "Now, Josefa."

Stanway threw open the door of the Señor de la Guerra's bedroom. Josefa, lifting a very white handkerchief to her very black eyes, crossed herself and stepped over the threshold.

"Look, Josefa! Is there anything missing?"

He had the key in his pocket; she had not seen it. He looked at her in a moment tense with expectant waiting, not sure why he was so eager for the word she should say. Josefa's eyes, showing again as she folded and smoothed her handkerchief, roved about the room.

She shook her head slowly, and still her eyes went upon their quest. "There is nothing missing," she said, speaking thoughtfully. "Everything."

She broke off suddenly, her old figure growing rigid, her eyes brightening. Then she ran across the room to a far corner which was a bit in shadow as Stanway held his candle above his head.

"It is gone!" she cried, amazement in her voice. "See where it has been for twenty years—for more than twenty years! And it is gone!"

"What, Josefa?" Stanway hurried to his side. "What is it that is gone?"

"The key!" she whispered, her voice suddenly dropping. "See where it hung against the wall. See where it hung so long that it left its own shape like a picture. But who could have taken it?"

Stanway, peering above the old woman's head, the candle held close to the wall, saw, dimly enough but plainly, the mark which the key, hanging from a little peg, had left.

"What key was it?" he asked sharply.

"The master's. He would allow no one to touch it. He had it kept there always, where he could see it in the morning, at night when he went to bed. And it is gone!"

"But," cried Stanway impatiently, his hand upon her arm, "what was it for? What did it open?"

Josefa looked at him with wide eyes. "But the master would be angry if he knew. He has had it there for twenty years—much longer. I think."

"But, Josefa," Stanway hurried on, "can't you think what door it opens? Can't you guess? I must know, Josefa. Think. Is it some room in the house here?"

"No, no, señor! Not here." Josefa shook her head. "I should know, then. I think, señor, it must be the key to some room in his beloved Spain. It is for no room upon the rancho. Of that I am sure, señor."

"What is this, Josefa?" Suddenly he had drawn the great, heavy key from his pocket, holding it before her eyes. She stared at it, then with a little cry put out her shaking hands for it.

"That is it, graciosa a Dios!" she muttered. "We shall put it back so that the master will not be angry when he returns. Quick, señor! Let us put it back. Maybe it's being gone brought the bad luck. Maybe when it is on the wall once more good luck will come back to the rancho."

It was not until he had again hung the key upon the peg that Stanway succeeded in getting the now delighted Josefa to leave the room. When she had gone he closed the door, came back to the key, and took it again in his hands.

"That opens the door behind which he is a prisoner," he told himself half angrily. "He and perhaps Teresa. I have the key, and I can't tell where the door is. And it is getting dark. Teresa—"

Long and moodily he stared at the cumbersome key. Its dull surface seemed to him to be hiding from him the things he wanted to know.

It seemed to him that suddenly it had grown cold there in De la Guerra's bedroom.

He shivered, and, taking up his candle, went his way back through the drawing room, with no word to Torre, with no glance even, for he feared that now he could not let his eyes go to the handsome, evil face and keep his hand back, and at last to Pedro's bedside.

Pedro, waiting for him impatiently, tried to lift himself upon an elbow, and falling in that turned his bright black eyes upon the American.

"What did she say, Josefa?" he asked quickly. "It is the master's key?"

"Yes, Pedro," answered Stanway dispiritedly. "But what is the use? She does not know what door it opens."

"But I know!" said Pedro brightly. "You know?" Stanway laid his hand on the wounded man's arm. "Tell me quick!"

BONEHEAD CLASSIC FOR YEAR OF 1919

All the blackboard stuff in the world can't help when such a play is pulled as came off in the Cardinals-Reds game on April 24. In the third inning with one down Heathcote on first, Hornsby hit as clean a smash as ever was poked. It was good for three bases at least. Heathcote ran as far as second, listened to Morris Bath a moment and then raced back for first. He met Hornsby on the way. Rogers passed him and was called out. And there stood Heathcote back on first base, well satisfied with himself.
